Guidelines for Neighborhood Watch Groups

- These groups are dedicated to improving the quality of life in their communities. They can accomplish this with direct coordination with their respective police departments and city officials.
- They should be the extra eyes and ears for the police department; by reporting what they see or hear to the appropriate city officials.
- They should not in any way impede or interfere in the police department's conduct of investigations. The objective is to not interfere with police operations, but to provide information to the police that might be useful to aid in making the community a safe and pleasant place to raise their families.
- They should operate within the guidelines set forth in official neighborhood watch manuals.
- To this end all members of neighborhood watch groups should do all that is possible to grow and maintain their existence.
- Neighborhood watch groups are an important part of any community! Although they are a separate entity, the Weed and Seed Public Safety Committee will do its best to support the growth of these groups.
